In a nutshell, the employees cut the water source to the plant, re-piped it, and then brought in professional crews to clean and sterilize the pipes. Giant storage tanks were brought in and tanker trucks hauled clean water from South Jacksonville.

After 9 days, the plant was ready. Water for operations as well as fire protection was available and a “reverse osmosis” system was in place to treat city water under a continued boil order. Nestlé resumed operations, even as the rest of Jacksonville remained waterlogged.

““This was way outside the scope of people’s normal duties and we were working 24-7, but nobody complained,” said Heika. “We avoided layoffs, and we learned a lot in the process, in case this ever happens again.”
From the President

No more tragedies!

We lost another one of our brothers in late August. IDOT construction engineer, Ryan Nichols, was struck and killed by a careless driver while inspecting a work site on Route 14 in Woodstock on August 22. He died from severe head trauma.

Nichols was only 34. He leaves behind a wife, a 2-year-old son, and twin boys less than a year old.

Ironically, Nichols’ job, what he was doing when he was mowed down, was trying to make our roads safer. Same as the scores of highway maintainers, construction workers, flaggers, and other road workers who have been killed in Illinois during the past 25 years. The Teamsters have lost more than our share of these young men and women, but other labor unions regularly mourn their colleagues killed on the job on the state’s dangerous highways.

What’s it going to take? Illinois has doubled and tripled the fines for work zone speeding, spent a fortune on public safety campaigns, even erected signs written in a child’s scrawl that carry messages such as “Slow down. My mommy works here.”

Ask any highway flagger and they’ll tell you, drivers don’t even look them in the eye as they reluctantly slow down to pass through a work zone. Many drivers are irritated and distracted. Others are sleep-deprived. Some are drunk.

The 67-year-old driver was apparently none of those things. And that’s even more frightening. He just drove carelessly through a work zone and ended a young man’s life. He was cited for failure to use due care with a pedestrian.

What’s it going to take? I wish I had the answer. In the meantime, take extreme care this winter when you travel and advise your friends and families to do the same. Our highway maintainers will be out there clearing the roads. Let’s keep them safe.

Scholarship Time

My favorite time of year! I think we set a record this year, awarding 95 scholarships to the children, grandchildren, and spouses of our members, as well as to one of our members himself! Congratulations to all of our promising young, and not so young, people chasing their dreams. We are extremely proud of you.

Finally, be careful out there hunting this season. And enjoy the holidays with your families.

Until next time,

— Tony Barr,
Local 916 President

Be Sure to Get a Withdrawal Card

It is important to take a withdrawal card from the Local if you do not work any days in a given month. This applies if you terminate your employment, go on sick leave, workers’ compensation, leave of absence, are laid off, or any other reason that keeps you from your job.

Your request should be made the end of the month in which you last worked. A withdrawal card allows a member to maintain their membership on an inactive basis. In other words, you will not owe union dues until you return to work. A withdrawal card is in effect indefinitely, or until you return to work. If you retire, request a Retiree withdrawal card.

If you allow your dues to go delinquent 90 days you will be placed on suspension status. When you request your withdrawal card, make sure you receive it in the mail within one week’s time. If you do not receive the card, call The Hall at (217) 522-7932 or (toll free) 1-877-349-4916.

Nestlé Retiree Puts Health Scare Behind Him

Gary Evans enjoying new normal

Gary Evans of Winchester still remembers the exact day he found out – October 20, 2010.

“Throat cancer,” said Evans, who had worked more than 23 years as a package line operator at Nestle by then. “I was never a smoker.”

He immediately started treatment and kept working. The treatment worked and in May, Evans was declared cancer-free. But the close call got him thinking.

“I was working 12-hour shifts and every other weekend,” said Evans, who ran a filler machine, putting Coffeee mate into containers. “Having cancer makes you realize what’s important.”

So, in July, 2011, Evans called it quits. It was his 64th birthday. He capped a career that not only included Nestlé, but also 13 years simultaneously working as a farmer. In fact, while farming full-time, he worked the night shift at Nestlé. He still lives in the farmhouse but won’t be going back to the corn and bean fields now that he has more time.

“I’m tired,” Evans said with a chuckle. He currently rents out the farmland, although you can still find him doing a few chores during the day, mowing and clearing brush.

There’s still time for fun, though. Evans and his wife just returned from a trip to celebrate their 40th anniversary. The couple’s two children also provide vacation destinations.

Daughter Laura, who works in insurance and real estate, lives in Kansas City with her husband and two children, Logan, 6, and Alaina, 3. Son David, a printing press operator, lives in Gastonia, North Carolina, with his wife and son, Aiden, 4. Evans said retirement hasn’t been a rough adjustment at all.

“I won’t miss the 12-hour shifts, but I will miss the people,” said Evans. “I made a lot of good friends there.”

Gary Evans was honored with a retirement party.
Whirlwind Changes for Adams Co. Retiree

Donnie Dade settling in to new life

Donnie Dade wants his old friends and co-workers to know that he’s doing just fine. The Adams County highway maintainer retired on October 7 and the next day he packed up a lifetime of belongings and memories and moved to Des Moines, Iowa.

“It happened pretty fast but I really didn’t rush into anything,” said Dade. “I talked with my friends and my family about it. I didn’t want to make a wrong decision. In the end, they told me to do what made me happy. So that’s what I did.”

It was quite a change, though, for a long-time resident of western Illinois. Dade logged 10 years and five months with Adams County and before that he worked for Celetex and for Champion Spark Plug in nearby Burlington, Iowa. Only 55 years old, he said he really wasn’t ready to stop working but wanted a new challenge.

“I was ready to relocate,” said Dade, whose girlfriend, Shelley, is also in Des Moines. “I had a job offer from Alliant Energy in Ames, Iowa, but after I moved here, I got a call from the Iowa Department of Transportation! I started there on November 3 as a highway maintainer.”

The job at Alliant is still a possibility, but Dade said he wants to see how IDOT works out. “The Ames, Iowa job would be a 30-40 minute commute,” said Dade. “The IDOT job is what I know.”

He laughs when he says he knows that the snow comes earlier to the highways in Iowa but says “cold is cold when you’re out on the roads at two in the morning.”

What he will miss about Illinois is the people, not the least of which are his two sons – one in Quincy and one with the Navy on the west coast. He said he remains grateful to Dick Klusmeyer at Adams County for giving him the opportunity to work there as long as he did. He also wants his old co-workers to know that he misses them, even as he starts a new chapter with Shelley, his new job, and his new home.

“It was scary at first and I was real homesick,” admits Dade. “But I’m doing fine now. Everything has fallen into place.”
Got an interesting story to tell?

We’d love to feature you in an issue of The Hall Report. Let us know what’s happening to you, your spouse, or your kids. Special hobby? Award? Honor? You can also tell us about a co-worker who may be too shy to come forward him or herself. And if you’re retiring, let us know!

New Fed Requirement for CDL Holders in 2012

Impacts all Local 916 drivers – freight, IDOT, food industry

Beginning in January, all drivers applying for an Illinois CDL for the first time, and all current drivers renewing, upgrading or replacing their CDL must visit a CDL facility to declare which category of driver they are.

Even if your current license isn’t due to expire soon, you must still declare your category, and you have to do it in person before January 30, 2014.

You will choose from four categories:

1. Non-expected interstate driver (NI)
2. Expected interstate driver (EI)
3. Non-expected intrastate driver (NA)
4. Expected intrastate driver (EA)

Only if you declare #1 (NI) will you be required to submit your current DOT Medical Card prior to being allowed to renew your license. The medical information from the card will be loaded onto your driver’s file.
